

Nairac murder probe team will interview former SAS - Local & National - News - Belfast Telegraph

Community Telegraph       The police are also trying to extradite two other men from America whom they believe can help with their inquiries.       Image: Community Telegraph         Treland's Saturday Night       One detective said: "We are having to look at this whole murder with fresh eyes.       Image: Community Telegraph       Image: Community Telegraph         "We have greater resources and manpower than the HIT and we have a senior officer in charge who had great success recently re-investigating old crimes, including murder.       Image: Community Telegraph       Image: Community Telegraph         "There are several people no longer around who thought they had got away with murder and other serious crimes until we caught up with them.       Image: Community Telegraph       Image: Community Telegraph         "We need to talk to these SAS people because we need to know exactly what was happening on the ground in that very dangerous area back then.       Image: Community Telegraph       Image: Community Telegraph         He added: "We shall re-visit their statements and re-interview them in case anything new surfaces.       Image: Community Telegraph       Image: Community Telegraph         "There have been many changes to investigations and the way evidence is gathered and has become admissible in the years since Capt Nairac's murder."       Image: Community Telegraph       Image: Community Telegraph         One of their aims is to try to discover where the IRA gang buried his body. It is believed to have been       Image: Community Telegraph       Image: Community Telegraph         One of their aims is to try to discove			Disease, hung
One detective said: "We are having to look at this whole murder with fresh eyes.       We have greater resources and manpower than the HIT and we have a senior officer in charge who has had great success recently reinvestigating old crimes, including murder.         There are several paople no longer around who thought they had got away with murder and other serious ordination in that very dangerous area back then.       In Peruse: Charge whether the cause unit we caught up with them.         We need to talk to these SAS people because we need to know exactly what was happening on the ground in that very dangerous area back then.       In Peruse: Charge whether the cause anything new surfaces.         There have been many changes to investigations and the way evidence is gathered and has become admissible in the years since Capit Nairac's murder.       In Peruse: Charge whether the statements and re-interview them in case anything new surfaces.         One of their aims is to try to discover where the IRA gang buried his body. It is believed to have been placed in a shallow grave, them moved to another location near the body. It is believed to have been the place the normer SAS officers on the police list said yesterday: 'I am sure we will all do everything we can to help the police.       In Vertristenent         The police are also believed to be planing to meet former members of the SAS he worked with us and we all feel its lime his body was returned to his family for a Christian burdal.       In Decention of the SAS he worked with us and the statewed to be planing to meet former members of the shadowy 14 Intelligence Company, the hush-hush unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Naira calso had close links.       In Ore of theis time his body was returned to hough whom Naira calso	Sunday Life Community Telegraph		In Pictures: China quake More shocking images in the aftermath of earthquake
We have greater resources and mapower than the HII and we have a senior other in charge who has       Char queet         Had great success recently relevestigating old crimes, including murder.       There are several people no longer around who thought they had got away with murder and other serious origins until we caught up with them.       We need to talk to these SAS people because we need to know exactly what was happening on the ground in that very dangerous area back filen.       Images in the series and mapower than the way evidence is gathered and has become admissible in the years since Capt Nairac's murder.       Images in the series the series the series that the statements and re-interview them in case anything new surfaces.       Images in the series the series the series the series the series of the series the series the series the series the series the series of the series the series the series the series the series of the series the se	ireland s Saturday Night	One detective said: "We are having to look at this whole murder with fresh eyes.
<ul> <li>"There are several people no longer around who thought they had got away with murder and other serious milli we caught up with them.</li> <li>"We need to talk to these SAS people because we need to know exactly what was happening on the ground in that very dangerous area back then.</li> <li>He added: 'We shall re-visit their statements and re-interview them in case anything new surfaces.</li> <li>"There have been many changes to investigations and the way evidence is gathered and has become admissible in the years since Capt Nairac's murder."</li> <li>Although Capt Nairac's parents have died, the detectives have been keeping the murdered officer's two sisters up to date with their investigation.</li> <li>One of their aims is to try to discover where the IRA gang buried his body. It is believed to have been placed in a shallow grave, then moved to another location near the bodref.</li> <li>It is understood that former IRA men are to be interviewed and if any clues on the whereabouts of the body are uncenthed, a search will be ordered.</li> <li>One of the former SAS officers on the police list said yesterday: "I am sure we will all do everything we can the heighte police.</li> <li>"Neither we, nor the regiment, has anything to hide. Although he was not a member of the SAS he worked with us and we all feel it is time his body was returned to his family for a Christian burdia.</li> <li>"Neither we, nor the regiment has anything to hide. Although he was not a member of the SAS he worked with us and we all feel it is time in badowed many terrorists with whom Nairca also had close links.</li> <li>A former commanding officer of the unit said. "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way ecan."</li> <li>Mi Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months is SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can."</li> <li>Mi Water responsible for 261 cas</li></ul>
<ul> <li>We need to talk to these SAS people because we need to know exactly what was happening on the ground in that very dargerous area back then.</li> <li>He added: "We shall re-visit their statements and re-interview them in case anything new surfaces.</li> <li>"There have been many changes to investigations and the way evidence is gathered and has become admissible in the years since Capt Nairac's murder."</li> <li>Although Capt Nairac's parents have died, the detectives have been keeping the murdered officer's two isisters up to date with their investigation.</li> <li>One of their aims is to try to discover where the IRA gang burde his body. It is believed to have been placed in a shallow grave, then moved to another location near the border."</li> <li>It is understood that former IRA men are to be interviewed and if any clues on the whereabouts of the body are unearthed, a search will be ordered.</li> <li>One of the former SAS officers on the police list said yesterday: "I am sure we will all do everything we can to help the police.</li> <li>"Neither we, nor the regiment, has anything to hide. Although he was not a member of the SAS he worked with us and we all feel it is time his body was returned to his faintal burdal.</li> <li>"Robert faced a terriby burdal death and if three are more people out there who took part in this then it is our duty to help the police bring them to jusice before the courts."</li> <li>The police are also believed to be planning to meet frame mores soft he shadowy 14 Intelligence Company, the hush-hush-bus' unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Nairac also had close links.</li> <li>A former commanding officer of the unit said: "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can."</li> <li>More articles in Local &amp; National</li> <li>Ni Water responsible for 261 cases of polution in nine months</li> <li>Sean Bean visits the Brandywell<!--</td--><td></td><td></td></li></ul>
He added: "We shall re-visit their statements and re-interview them in case anything new surfaces. "There have been many changes to investigations and the way evidence is gathered and has become admissible in the years since Capt Nairac's murder." Although Capt Nairac's parents have died, the detectives have been keeping the murdered officer's two sisters up to date with their investigation. One of their aims is to try to discover where the IRA gang buried his body. It is believed to have been placed in a shallow grave, them moved to another location near the border. It is understood that former IRA men are to be interviewed and if any clues on the whereabouts of the body are unearthed, a search will be ordered. One of the former SAS officers on the police list said yesterday: "I am sure we will all do everything we can to help the police. "Neither we, nor the regiment, has anything to hide. Although he was not a member of the SAS he worked with us and we all feel it is time his body was returned to his family for a Christian burial. "Robert faced a terribly brutal death and if there are more people out here who took part in this then it is our duty to help the police bing them to justice before the courts." The police are also believed to be planning to meet former members of the shadowy 14 Intelligence Company, the hush-hush' unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Nairac also had close links. A former commanding officer of the unit said: "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can." More articles in Local & National N Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months Sean Bean visits the Brandywell Quitage over water boss pay-out Man arrested after weapons discovery admissible in the years since Capit Nairac's murder." Although Capit Nairac's parents have died, the detectives have been keeping the murdered officer's two sisters up to date with their investigation. One of their aims is to try to discover where the IRA gang buried his body. It is believed to have been placed in a shallow grave, then moved to another location near the border. It is understood that former IRA men are to be interviewed and if any clues on the whereabouts of the body are unearthed, a search will be ordered. One of the former SAS officers on the police list said yesterday: "I am sure we will all do everything we can to help the police. "Neither we, nor the regiment, has anything to hide. Although he was not a member of the SAS he worked with us and we all feel it is time his body was returned to his family for a Christian burial. "Robert faced a terribly brutal death and if there are more people out there who took part in this then it is our duty to help the police obing them to justice before the courts." The police are also believed to be planning to meet former members of the shadowy 14 Intelligence Company, the 'hush-hush' unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Nairac also had close links. A former commanding officer of the unit said: "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can." More articles in Local & National NI Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months Sean Bean visits the Brandywell Quitage over water boss pay-out Man arrested after weapons discovery		He added: "We shall re-visit their statements and re-interview them in case anything new surfaces.	Undie-cover Agent
Atthough Capt Nairac's parents have died, the detectives have been keeping the murdered officer's two sisters up to date with their investigation. One of their aims is to try to discover where the IRA gang buried his body. It is believed to have been placed in a shallow grave, then moved to another location near the border. It is understood that former IRA men are to be interviewed and if any clues on the whereabouts of the body are unearthed, a search will be ordered. One of the former SAS officers on the police list said yesterday: "I am sure we will all do everything we can to help the police. "Neither we, nor the regiment, has anything to hide. Although he was not a member of the SAS he worked with us and we all feel it is time his body was returned to his family for a Christian burial. "Robert faced a terribly brutal death and if there are more people out there who took part in this then it is our duty to help the police bring them to justice before the courts." The police are also believed to be planning to meet former members of the shadowy 14 Intelligence Company, the 'hush-hush' unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Nairac also had close links. A former commanding officer of the unit said: "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can." More articles in Local & National NU Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months Sean Bean visits the Brandywell Outrage over water boss pay-out Man arrested after weapons discovery		"There have been many changes to investigations and the way evidence is gathered and has become	Agent Provocateur's revealing linge placed in a shallow grave, then moved to another location near the border.       If is understood that former IRA men are to be interviewed and if any clues on the whereabouts of the body are unearthed, a search will be ordered.         One of the former SAS officers on the police list said yesterday: "I am sure we will all do everything we can to help the police.       "Neither we, nor the regiment, has anything to hide. Although he was not a member of the SAS he worked with us and we all feel it is time his body was returned to his family for a Christian burial.         "Robert faced a terribly brutal death and if there are more people out there who took part in this then it is our duty to help the police bring them to justice before the courts."         The police are also believed to be planning to meet former members of the shadowy 14 Intelligence Company, the 'hush-hush' unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Nairac also had close links.         A former commanding officer of the unit said: "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can."         More articles in Local & National         NI Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months         Sean Bean visits the Brandywell         Outrage over water boss pay-out         Man arrested after weapons discovery			launch
It is understood that former IRA men are to be interviewed and if any clues on the whereabouts of the body are unearthed, a search will be ordered. One of the former SAS officers on the police list said yesterday: "I am sure we will all do everything we can to help the police. "Neither we, nor the regiment, has anything to hide. Although he was not a member of the SAS he worked with us and we all feel it is time his body was returned to his family for a Christian burial. "Robert faced a terribly brutal death and if there are more people out there who took part in this then it is our duty to help the police bring them to justice before the courts." The police are also believed to be planning to meet former members of the shadowy 14 Intelligence Company, the 'hush-hush' unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Nairac also had close links. A former commanding officer of the unit said: "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can." More articles in Local & National NI Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months Sean Bean visits the Brandywell Outrage over water boss pay-out Man arrested after weapons discovery		One of their aims is to try to discover where the IRA gang buried his body. It is believed to have been placed in a shallow grave, then moved to another location near the border.	ADVERTISEMENTS to help the police. "Neither we, nor the regiment, has anything to hide. Although he was not a member of the SAS he worked with us and we all feel it is time his body was returned to his family for a Christian burial. "Robert faced a terribly brutal death and if there are more people out there who took part in this then it is our duty to help the police bring them to justice before the courts." The police are also believed to be planning to meet former members of the shadowy 14 Intelligence Company, the 'hush-hush' unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Nairac also had close links. A former commanding officer of the unit said: "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can." More articles in Local & National NI Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months Sean Bean visits the Brandywell Outrage over water boss pay-out Man arrested after weapons discovery		It is understood that former IRA men are to be interviewed and if any clues on the whereabouts of the body <ul> <li>with us and we all feel it is time his body was returned to his family for a Christian burial.</li> <li>"Robert faced a terribly brutal death and if there are more people out there who took part in this then it is our duty to help the police bring them to justice before the courts."</li> <li>The police are also believed to be planning to meet former members of the shadowy 14 Intelligence Company, the 'hush-hush' unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Nairac also had close links.</li> <li>A former commanding officer of the unit said: "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can."</li> <li>More articles in Local &amp; National</li> <li>NI Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months</li> <li>Sean Bean visits the Brandywell</li> <li>Outrage over water boss pay-out</li> <li>Man arrested after weapons discovery</li> </ul> our duty to help the police bring them to justice before the courts."         The police are also believed to be planning to meet former members of the shadowy 14 Intelligence Company, the 'hush-hush' unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Nairac also had close links.         A former commanding officer of the unit said: "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can."         More articles in Local & National         NI Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months         Sean Bean visits the Brandywell         Outrage over water boss pay-out         Man arrested after weapons discovery		"Neither we, nor the regiment, has anything to hide. Although he was not a member of the SAS he worked with us and we all feel it is time his body was returned to his family for a Christian burial.
Company, the 'hush-hush' unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Nairac also had close links. A former commanding officer of the unit said: "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can." More articles in Local & National NI Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months Sean Bean visits the Brandywell Outrage over water boss pay-out Man arrested after weapons discovery
More articles in Local & National         NI Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months         Sean Bean visits the Brandywell         Outrage over water boss pay-out         Man arrested after weapons discovery		The police are also believed to be planning to meet former members of the shadowy 14 Intelligence Company, the 'hush-hush' unit which shadowed many terrorists with whom Nairac also had close links.
<ul> <li>NI Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months</li> <li>Sean Bean visits the Brandywell</li> <li>Outrage over water boss pay-out</li> <li>Man arrested after weapons discovery</li> </ul>		A former commanding officer of the unit said: "There have been suggestions that he was one of ours, or in the SAS. He was in neither, but we will help the police in any way we can."
<ul> <li>NI Water responsible for 261 cases of pollution in nine months</li> <li>Sean Bean visits the Brandywell</li> <li>Outrage over water boss pay-out</li> <li>Man arrested after weapons discovery</li> </ul>		More articles in Local & National <ul> <li>Sean Bean visits the Brandywell</li> <li>Outrage over water boss pay-out</li> <li>Man arrested after weapons discovery</li> </ul>
Outrage over water boss pay-out Man arrested after weapons discovery
Man arrested after weapons discovery
Robinson in job for day and already facing a crisis		• • •

ADVERTISEMENTS

Nairac murder probe team will interview former SAS - Local & National - News - Belfast Telegraph

2008 January February March 2007 Jan & Feb March April May June July August September October November December

Video

Video: Titanic town Ship's Belfast beginnings celebrated in exhibition

BT Woman of the Year

Applauding Ulster's most exceptional women

Omagh blaze tragedy

Special report on Northern Ireland's worst Ireland's w house fire -

Belfast Telegraph Property Awards

Celebrating excellence at the inaugural awards gala -

Best view in town

Special

multimedia report on Belfast Wheel

In Pictures . . .

News Paisley quits

