ORAL NO: 5250

Mr John Hume (Foyle): To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on the Government's reasons for refusing to fund the activities at Conway Mill in Belfast.

MR BROOKE

As indicated in my predecessor's written reply of 9 February 1989 to the Hon Member for Derby North Government policy on the payment of public funds to community groups, where there is evidence that such payments could directly or indirectly further the aims of a paramilitary organisation, has been applied to groups operating in or out of Conway Mill because of the nature and extent of paramilitary influence within the Mill.

C O N F I D E N T I A L

CONWAY MILL: PQ ORAL NO 5250

BACKGROUND NOTE

1. Conway Street Mill is located in the lower Falls areas of West Belfast. Formerly the Falls Flax Company it was sold in 1982 to Gerry Adams and others. In February 1988 ownership passed to a local Limited Company, Conway Community Enterprises. The Directors are Father Desmond Wilson, Mr Alfred Hannaway, Mr Colm Bradley and Mr Francis Cahill.
2. In 1985, following concern about the possible exploitation of public funds by or to the benefit of paramilitary organisations the then Secretary of State Mr Hurd, decided that public money should be withheld from community groups where there is evidence that payment could directly or indirectly further the aims of a paramilitary organisation. This decision was announced in a written Parliamentary answer on 27 June 1985 (copy attached) which remains the basis of Government policy. (The policy was considered and approved by the present Secretary of State in October 1989).
3. The first groups denied support under the June 1985 Statement were based in Conway Mill. Subsequently on the basis of confidential advice concerning strong paramilitary connections with the Mill complex Mr King decided in September 1985 that Government assistance should not be provided for any activity based in the Mill. Following that decision grants to a number of bodies operating in and out of the Mill were terminated.
4. The application of the Policy to bodies operating in or out of the Mill, or proposing to set up in the Mill, has been reviewed on a number of occasions most recently by the present Secretary of State in October 1989. On each occasion it was decided that the application of the Policy should remain unchanged. This was in spite of changes in the activities carried out in the Mill and the fact that some of the activities may be intrinsically acceptable and meet a need in the area.

5. The Policy in respect of the Mill has been criticised by MPs (mainly Labour members but including John Hume), local community groups, churches, the Rowntree Trust etc. The criticism was particularly vocal prior to the review of the policy in January 1989 due to the International Fund's compliance with advice from HMG that it would be inconsistent with the social and economic policies of HMG if the Fund provided assistance to any body operating in or out of the Mill. Having regard to all the relevant considerations at the time Mr King concluded that the denial of public funds to organisations operating in and out of Conway Mill should continue. This was made public in a written Parliamentary answer on 9 February 1989. The answer (copy attached) also confirmed the Government's advice to IFI.
6. Mr Hume has regularly raised the issue of the Mill and did so directly with the Secretary of State at a meeting on 19 September when he said that he had met the people running activities in the Mill, believed their good faith and their denials of laundering money for PIRA. Mr Hume had been assured that those concerned were willing to open their books to official scrutiny and to take into their Management Committee people nominated by Government with a track record of opposition to Sinn Fein.
7. Having recently reviewed the case the Secretary of State confirmed that he was satisfied that the influence of PIRA in the Mill is such that there is a grave risk that any assistance designed to promote activity in the premises would have the effect of enhancing the standing of a paramilitary organisation. As for Mr Hume's proposals it would simply not be appropriate for Government to get involved in nominating people to Management Committees, and it is difficult to envisage a new Management Committee being in a position to rid the Mill of its paramilitary influences. If there is a desire to find an alternative management structure for the Mill it may reflect the success of Government policy to date in denying funding to activities in the Mill, in persuading projects to relocate and in providing support for legitimate community based activities in other parts of West Belfast.

8. Organisations refused grant simply by virtue of being located in the Mill (rather than because of compelling evidence about its own bona fides) are invariably told that if they moved elsewhere the possibility of support would be reconsidered. The Rowntree Trust (and Father Wilson himself) have been told that this is the case so far as education classes in the Mill are concerned and both parties met education officials recently to discuss alternative education provision. A further meeting is planned for January.
9. The provision of alternative premises in the area is an integral part of Government strategy and is being taken forward in the context of Making Belfast Work and the Belfast Action Teams Initiative. The linking of specific action in the area to the erosion of support for Conway Mill has not been made explicit since to do so could be counter-productive and could put officials working on the ground at risk.
10. Whilst Mr Hume's question relates to Conway Mill there has been considerable publicity recently about the Secretary of State's decision of 25 October to deny funding to the Glencairn Community Association, which was conveyed to the Group last month. The ACE posts previously allocated to this group are now being re-distributed around other acceptable organisations in the same area. Councillor Brian Feeney of the SDLP has also written to Ministers concerning the Shankill Activity Centre and the Shankill Musicians Collective and Mr Hume may attempt to draw comparisons between these organisations, which are currently being examined, and the Mill.

C O N F I D E N T I A L

11. The strong legal advice is that the Secretary of State should not be drawn into discussion or speculation about the basis, or validity, of the decisions on Conway Mill, or any other cases, nor should he say anything about the Shankill Activity Centre or the Musicians Collective. Refusal to discuss individual cases has been an integral part of policy to date and has served us well in that despite occasional threats of a legal challenge none of the decisions taken have been the subject of judicial review.

DATE FOR ANSWER: 14 DECEMBER 1989

ORAL NO: 5250

Mr John Hume (Foyle): To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on the Government's reasons for refusing to fund the activities at Conway Mill in Belfast.

MR

The position remains as set out in my predecessor's Statement to the House of 9 February 1989.

SUPPLEMENTARY MATERIAL

If pressed: the Honourable Member knows that it is not possible for me to discuss individual cases. He will also know that I have carefully considered this matter very recently and concluded that the circumstances remain as set out in the Statement of 9 February 1989 [SOS letter to Mr Hume of 25 October 1989]

BULL POINTS

1. Decisions on refusal of grant aid in such cases are taken personally by the Secretary of State.
2. For security reasons it is not Government policy to discuss individual cases.
3. Cases of this nature are kept under review and decisions are reversed where circumstances warrant such a change. [If pressed: Two such cases]
4. Government policy on this matter is even-handed and is applied regardless of the source of paramilitary influence. Of current cases denied support the community split is almost equally divided. [If pressed: there are currently 18 such cases]
5. Government is working closely with many bona fide community groups in West Belfast (and throughout Northern Ireland) in tackling the social and economic problems which exist in difficult areas but is not prepared to see Government funds used to directly or indirectly further the aims of a paramilitary organisation.

Caution: avoid being drawn into comment on individual schemes or in offering any elaboration on the Statement of 9 February 1989 on Conway Mill or the Parliamentary Statement of 27 June 1985 on which the policy is founded. Copies of both statements attached. Quote if required.

Q. 11

Is not the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland likely to make a statement on the Government's reasons for refusing to fund the activities at Conway Hall in Belfast?

Answer.

I would remind the Member that I made a statement on 2nd October 1959 on this point. As I said in that reply I have reviewed the position and am satisfied that the circumstances remain as set out in the statement of 9th February 1957 to this House by my Rt Hon. Friend Secretary of State for Defence when he was Secretary of State for N.I.

[I am sorry I cannot be more helpful but as the Government has seen that it is not possible to discuss individual cases.]
