"In both trials, police officers have been exposed as lying through their teeth to secure convictions at any cost."

Mrs Hoey, speaking after her son had slipped out of a back entrance of the court to be escorted away, supported the Omagh families' demands for a cross-border public inquiry.

She said: "I want to ask the question regarding the Omagh tragedy -who has the most to fear from such an inquiry? And what are the authorities, north and south of the border, covering up?"
